

Value of the Oak Ridge Reservation for Public Health and Safety

Public health and safety are protected both by environmental laws and regulations and by the buffer zones that the Oak Ridge Reservation land provides. The local community understands and accepts the risk associated with the US Department of Energy facilities as long as hazardous sites are effectively separated from the community.